ABSTRACT

This book provides information on over 590 Texas markets for writers. The book lists book publishers; magazines, journals, and newspapers which accept freelance articles; writers' groups and publishers' organizations; screenwriting/playwriting markets accepting scripts; daily, weekly, and minority newspapers which accept op-eds, book reviews, and freelance articles; graduate writing programs, conferences, and seminars to improve writing skills; radio and television programs which interview writers and review books; literary prizes/awards/fellowships/grants/retreats; and literary agents and consultants. The book concludes with book and magazine publishers indexed by city and type of work accepted. (RS)
